

Exchange Electronics

Rapid exchange if needed

Time is critical in the event of a breakdown on your machine. The Baumüller exchange program enables swift delivery of motor controllers, thereby keeping your downtimes as short as possible.

In our extensive replacement unit warehouse for Baumüller digital and analog electronics, we have a replacement in stock for your unit. If motor controllers parameters (drive software) are available, your unit can be supplied fully configured. We provide a 12-month warranty from delivery on our high-quality replacement units.

Our global network and experienced staff ensure your exchange unit is delivered in the shortest possible time. Availability and delivery time can be defined as part of a service maintenance agreement, enabling you to then reduce your own stock levels.

Expensive downtimes are reduced to a minimum by quick exchange of identical components

Increased uptime of your machine

Our range of replacement units includes components both from the current product range and from series that were discontinued years ago. The ready supply of exchange units enables you bring your machine back online in the shortest possible time.

To ensure we can continue to cover the future demand for exchange units, the faulty units must be returned so that they can be refurbished.

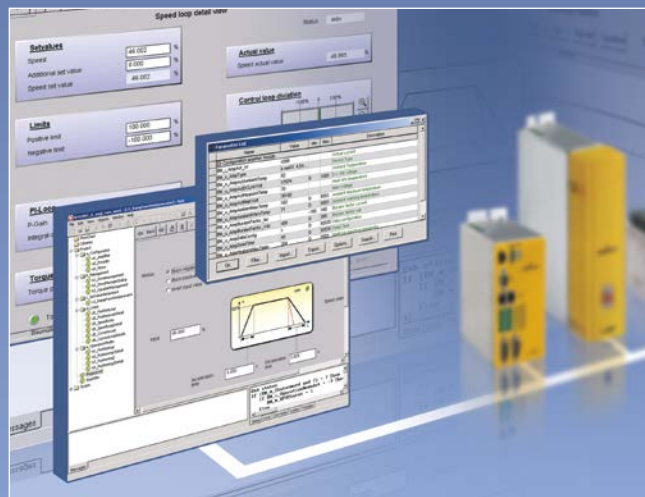

You will find an overview of all exchange units at www.baumuller-services.com.

Our objective is your benefit:
Maximization of machine uptime
through swift exchange
