

Spare parts service

Professional and competent spare parts supply

Your machinery and plant comprises of a large number of often very complex individual parts. Even the most robust part will at some point suffer from material fatigue. The failure of critical parts can then rapidly result in the breakdown of your entire machine.

We ensure a very high availability of common wearing parts. With our long regular opening hours and our 24-hour emergency service we are always ready to help. We understand how critical your situation can be and our un-bureaucratic procedures ensure rapid assistance.

Experienced and technically qualified staff can help you with the identification of the correct spare parts. As a consequence of our many years of experience with the repair of electrical drives and motors of a very wide range of makes and the resulting stock of genuine spare parts, we are your partner for all your spare part needs – irrespective of the manufacturer.
